EMILY FLATT, BK/DRAKE (center) was crowned Homecoming queen. She is surrounded by fellow Beta Kappa members JORDON POWELL and KATE STERNOWSKI, who were the previous two Homecoming queens.

LINDA PHILLIPS KNOBLOCK, THEA WILLIAMS TIDYMAN, DEBBY DAYLE McWHINNEY, RITA WALTER HEFRON, and MARILYN SHOPE PETERSON are all members of the ALPHA NU CHAPTER currently serving as University of Montana Foundation trustees.

JENNIFER JONES, BA/WILLIAM & MARY, SUE LAFFAN THOMPSON, ΓM/MARYLAND, and KAREN WEINER, ΑΩ/PITTSBURGH, all members of the WASHINGTON, DC/SUBURBAN MARYLAND ALUMNAE CHAPTER, recently participated in the Washington, DC, AIDS Ride 3 bike race. The 1,400-participant race took place over four days and was put together to help raise AIDS awareness to the people of Washington, DC, and the rest of the world. Through intense heat and pouring rain, the riders spent four full days concentrating on biking, stopping each evening to eat and sleep, only to begin again at dawn. The three Thetas spent months preparing for the ride by training and raising more than $2,000 each for AIDS service providers.

◀ ANNE HOLTERHOFF, SARAH WILSON, MAGGIE MOLLOY and NICOLE DUGGAN, all members of B/INDIANA, placed third in the Women's Little 500 Race. The race has been a tradition at Indiana University for 48 years, and both Greek and independent teams compete. There has been a women's race for the past 10 years, and Theta has always been a powerhouse, placing in the top three positions almost every year.

ent in her service. She is a member of the College of Humanities Development Council, and she frequently provides advice and guidance to the College of Humanities. Crane has planned and participated in several Ohio State University functions. Last fall she was named Philanthropist of the Year by the National Society for Fund-Raising Executives, Central Ohio Chapter. Insley, executive vice-president and principal of Cochran Public Relations, received the Ralph Davenport Mershon Award for her leadership and service to Ohio State. Insley has been serving the university for several years in a variety of capacities. She has been on the Board of Trustees of University Hospital and chaired the Strategic Planning Committee; she currently chairs MedOhio Health Inc.

Most people go to Walt Disney World to meet Mickey Mouse and see Cinderella's castle. DANIELLE CHAUNCEY, Κ/KANSAS, went to answer the "Call of the Wild," a marathon (26.2 miles) held annually by Disney World. On January 10, Chauncey ran a course which extended through Epcot Center, the Magic Kingdom, MGM Studios, and Animal Kingdom in less time than her personal goal of five hours. What made this accomplishment even more meaningful was that Chauncey ran not only for herself but to raise money for the Leukemia Society.

Chauncey began running as part of her training regime for rowing at KU. She became interested in running a marathon for the Leukemia Society this past summer while talking to a family friend, himself in his thirteenth year of remission and gearing up for a San Diego marathon. "The more I looked into it, the more exciting it seemed. You'd have the motivation of doing something good, and I thought it would be cool to run a marathon."

Chauncey ran for the Leukemia Society's Wichita-based Kansas chapter. Runners are placed in teams based on their geographic location and paired with leukemia patients who volunteer to take part in the program. Thirteen-year-old patient Brooke O'Grady served as an inspiration to Chauncey. "She was in her second year of recovery, and she was just incredible." In addition, Chauncey ran in honor of a Theta sister who had leukemia, Kerri Coulter, with whom she became friends freshman year. Chauncey was encouraged as well by the support she received from family and friends. "My sorority sisters absolutely amazed me. The amount of support they gave me truly flattered me."

Chauncey began training in August, with five- to six-mile runs two to three times a week. In addition, Chauncey worked on fund-raising as well. She needed to raise $2800 to qualify for the Disney marathon and eventually raised $3,126, primarily through a letter-writing campaign. Chauncey was surprised by the number of people who included personal notes with their checks. "It was amazing to find out how many people leukemia had actually touched."

Although her preparation schedule was rigorous, the end result was worth it for Chauncey. She described the marathon as "Electric ... just an incredible, incredible experience."

"At the starting line it seemed like half the people were wearing purple jerseys (signifying Leukemia Society tee-shirts). That was really great—to know how many people were involved auditor for the State of Missouri. McCaskill has served as county prosecuting attorney for Jackson County, Mo., and has been a state and county legislator.

ANNE HOUGHTON HOPKINS, X/SYRACUSE, has been selected as the next president of the University of North Florida. Hopkins currently serves as provost and executive vice-president for academic affairs at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. She was "selected for her outstanding qualities as a scholar, a teacher, a concerned citizen and a dynamic leader."

KATHERINE WHAN, EA/DICKINSON, has been awarded a writer's grant for a one-month fiction writing residency at Vermont Studio Center, the country's largest artist's colony. Whan lives in Chapel Hill, NC, where she works in corporate communications.

JAN HEINEMAN SECRIST, BA/ARIZONA, co-authored Secrets for a Successful Dissertation. This publication is a manual for those pursuing or thinking about pursuing a doctorate. The book combines humor and actual student stories and offers motivation and guidance through the dissertation process.

ASHLEY BELLEAU, AΦ/NEWCOMB-TULANE, has been named partner in the firm Patrick, Miller, Burnside & Belleau. Belleau is president-elect of the New Orleans Chapter of the Federal Bar Association. She has more than a decade of experience in commercial and business litigation and is a frequent lecturer on corporate law topics. Belleau has served as editor of The Louisiana United States District in the Leukemia Society and doing something like this."

ENID FISHER, BE/OREGON STATE, could probably tell you some good stories from her days as a ferry pilot during World War II. Women played key roles in factories and on assembly lines. Fisher participated in this effort by working with the military shuttling small fighter planes from their point of manufacture on the West Coast to various air bases on the East Coast.

"A lot of people still don't believe we flew planes," the Salem, Ore., resident said of the ferry pilots. "There were 1,200 of us. And I'm not sure, but there were about 30,000 men doing the same thing." After she graduated in 1939, Fisher obtained her private pilot's license, which was a bit unusual for women at the time.

From February 1943 to December 1944, Fisher usually flew P-51s from where she was stationed, in Long Beach, Calif., with the sixth Ferrying Command, to various bases on the East Coast. She also ferried P-63s, P39s, P-40s, P-47s, occasionally a BT-13 trainer,

"Bugged" by Y2K? We Are!

Unless you've been living in a cave on Venus for the past few years, you've no doubt heard more than you care to about the Y2K problem. Briefly, Y2K refers to the computer crashes that could occur in the year 2000. Many older computers, originally geared to recognize only the last two digits of a year, will fail or malfunction on January 1 (or on July 1, when 46 of the United States begin their fiscal year, or on October 1, when the US government begins its fiscal year), because the machines will assume that 00 represents 1900 instead of 2000.

To hear some people tell it, on January 1 (or July 1 or October 1), we can expect worldwide stock market crashes, airplanes and satellites falling from the sky, and all sorts of other catastrophes. Other, more optimistic, souls believe that the most serious problems have been solved, and that it's only those with outmoded personal computers who will experience glitches.

I happen to think that both groups are wrong. I think that the Y2K crisis is already upon us, and as evidence, I offer this issue of The Kappa Alpha Theta Magazine.

It's not enough that the spring issue of The Magazine has nearly twice as many pages as the other quarterly issues. It's not enough that it contains a 22-page listing of Foundation donors that required the better part of two months and the efforts of seven people to produce. It's not enough that it contains the annual report—the official account of 1998—for both the Fraternity and the Foundation. In addition to all that, our primary software program seemed to develop a mischievous mind of its own, our E-mail started to behave oddly, and even the telephones and the fax machine went haywire a couple of times.

As any student of Theta history knows, we are a fraternity of firsts. I think that all these technical difficulties simply prove that Theta is once again on the cutting edge: we experienced Y2K months before anyone else. And believe me when I tell you that it was a humbling experience.

Stories of computer crashes and information systems failures alarm us because they make us realize exactly how dependent we are on the machines in our lives. Imagine having to write an entire magazine article out by hand. Imagine having to figure a year's worth of revenue without an accounting program. Without a calculator, even!

Of course, human beings communicated and calculated and in general survived for thousands of years before the invention of the Pentium chip. But if computers everywhere were to fail—truly fail—we'd have no running water or electricity in our homes. Our cars and trucks and vans wouldn't run. We couldn't dial 911 for help. We wouldn't have access to money or to current information. The fabric of our everyday lives would be shredded, and that's scary. Despite all the Y2K jokes out there, that's really, really scary.

But, on the bright side, human beings (especially Thetas!) are inventive and creative and tenacious. So we can deal with and even triumph over capricious machines, and for me the Spring 1999 issue of The Magazine is also evidence of that.

Perhaps I'm a little biased, but I think it's a particularly nice issue. One of the things I like best is that many, many people contributed to its creation.

Three of our editorial board members wrote profiles for the Life Stories feature on page 30. The four subjects of those stories are extraordinary women whose lives have followed unexpected paths and turned out a little differently than they might have imagined.

Susan Holloway, former editor of and frequent contributor to The Magazine, is the author of our feature profile, which begins on page 42. Susan reports that Midge Rendell, Beta Eta/Pennsylvania, had a little bit of difficulty finding time for an interview; given her dual role as a federal judge and the first lady of Philadelphia, that's not all that surprising!

College chapter editors contributed reports for the On Campus article, and alumnae group editors did the same for the Alumnae Report. These are both annual features of The Magazine.

It's been said that the only constant in life is change. On page 10, former President and current 1st Alternate NPC

Delegate Norma Jorgensen offers a historical perspective on change—"The Way We Were"—within the Fraternity. And while we're on the subject of change, the Directory on page 8 lists all the new international, district, and special officers of the Fraternity and the Foundation.

As in every spring issue of The Magazine, we have included the Member Recruitment Directory, as well as a letter of reference form and a legacy introduction form. These will help you provide information on prospective new Thetas to our college chapters during membership recruitment.

And, of course, this issue includes the aforementioned Foundation Donor Report and the annual report. Thanks to the time and energy of a number of Theta staff members, the creation of these two important reports proceeds more smoothly each year. Despite computer problems and the associated anxiety!

We hope you enjoy the Spring 1999 issue of The Kappa Alpha Theta Magazine. And we wish you the best of luck in coping with any Y2K difficulties that you may encounter. And by the way, if you have been living in a Venusian cave for the past few years, let me know. Your experiences would probably make a heck of a magazine article. But please don't rely on E-mail or the phone. It's probably safest just to send me a postcard.

Loyally,

Liz Appel Rinck, Γ/Butler Editor

CORRECTIONS

-In the Winter 1998-99 issue, the captions for two reunion photos of members of the Gamma Xi Chapter at San Jose State were transposed. We apologize for any confusion.

-The names of collegians inducted into national honor societies, which were published in the Winter 1998-99 issue, were submitted to us by the college chapters. Several parents have notified us that their daughters' names were omitted. We are currently investigating ways to improve the accuracy and timeliness of the scholarship information we collect.

KEEPING IN TOUCH

Just received the Summer/Autumn 1998 issue of The Kappa Alpha Theta Magazine and decided it was high time I wrote and told you how wonderful it is to be out in the middle of nowhere in the Pacific and still feel "the tie that binds." You can't imagine how eagerly I await each communication from the Fraternity and especially each issue of The Magazine. Being the only Theta (that I know of) on Pohnpei (and possibly in all of Micronesia), anything "Theta" that arrives is eagerly anticipated and always appreciated.

I've been living in Pohnpei, one of the four states of the Federated States of Micronesia, since July 1997. It was kind of a lark at first, a change of pace. It has become, however, one of the most interesting and challenging things I've ever done.

Pohnpei itself is a beautiful place. The largest of the four states, Pohnpei State consists of the big island of Pohnpei (at more than 300 square kilometers, it's one of the largest in Micronesia) and a variety of "out islands" and atolls, some inhabited, some not. Pohnpei Island, with a population of about 30,000, is home to lush vegetation, crystal clear oceans, rain-forested mountains, and tumbling waterfalls. (Sorry, no beaches, but a surrounding reef teeming with fish, coral, and other marine life).

As with any new democracy (the Federal States of Micronesia is a former Trust Territory of the United States), there are "problems" and there are "opportunities." Blending a traditional culture (complete with traditional leaders called namwarkis and nankens, sort of like kings and prime ministers) with the type of Western democracy (with elected government leaders, etc.) that we know and take for granted is often difficult and frustrating. But the people of Micronesia, and Pohnpei in particular, seem committed to the democratic idea, even if it is with a Micronesian twist.

I have fallen in love with the people and the place and, despite what many would consider the hardships of living in a developing country, hope to make it home for a good while. We'll see where the adventure takes me.

In the meantime, I'm enclosing my most recent donation to Theta. It is because of Theta and my many friends who said, "Go for it!" that I was actually able to have this adventure. While I miss you all terribly and would love to hear from any and all of you, I am tremendously grateful that Theta keeps reminding me to reach for the stars. Giving a donation whenever I can—even a small one—is my way of saying thank you.

By the way, if anyone out there is thinking of doing something similar to what I've done, I say, "You GO, girl!" Life is so short to think about it.

KATE RITTNER

BETA PHI/PENN STATE

I wanted to take a moment to thank you for the wonderful magazine. I love to be able to see what is going on with the Fraternity. Thank you for allowing me to still feel like part of the sisterhood.

PANHELLENIC SPIRIT

My daughter transferred to the University of Oregon in the middle of her sophomore year and was soon involved in informal rush. She became friends with several Thetas and spent many hours at the Theta house. While I would have liked her to join Theta, I know that she needed to go where she was the most at home and comfortable with the members. She joined Sigma Kappa and has served as an officer for two years.

While all Theta alumnae would like to have their daughters, sisters, and nieces become Thetas, we really need to remember that chapters vary from one campus to another. They also evolve over the years and change, just as we do. We represent the Greek system and must support it for all sororities and fraternities around the country.

As an aside, the wonderful picture of all the sorority pins featured on the cover of the autumn 1997 issue of The Magazine now hangs on the main bulletin board at the Sigma Kappa house in Eugene.

Thanks to Theta for her continuing support of the Greek system.

A HOME FOR PHI DEUTERON

Not since 1944 has there been a Kappa Alpha Theta house on the campus of Stanford University, but on September 22, 1998, 52 Thetas and two boarders moved into the Kappa Alpha Theta house at 585 Cowell Lane, Stanford, Calif.! Theta and Delta Delta Delta are the first Greek Women's groups to be housed on campus.

The housing situation at Stanford is unique—the chapter facility is owned and was refurbished by the University. Because the Theta house is a first on campus, the chapter members are still feeling their way. It is not yet clear whether rushing will be permitted in the chapter house in April.

The history of Theta at Stanford is a long and difficult story. The Phi Chapter charter was transferred from the University of Pacific to Stanford in 1892, and the chapter flourished for 50 years. However, in 1944 when the men were at war and competition among sororities became more negative, women's fraternities were asked to leave Stanford, and they remained absent for 34 years. Meanwhile, a new University of the Pacific was built, and members of the new Phi Chapter were initiated there in 1959.

In 1978, Grand Council granted a charter to the Phi deuteron Chapter at Stanford. But it wasn't until 1983 that sororities were officially recognized by the university and members were able to meet and rush on campus. Now the Phi deuteron Chapter is happy to be able to enjoy the fun and camaraderie of living and meeting in their own facility.

The Way We Were

Discussing historical perspective is an interesting and awesome assignment. Although some Thetas may think I was initiated by the founders, the best I can do is share my thoughts on what I've learned through the study of our history and through my own life as a Theta. Later we will talk about change.

Yes, Theta has changed, and it has been a fascinating journey. We have grown from a campus-based friendship group to an international Indianapolis-based corporation. But have our goals changed? No.

Granted, we have lost a few things along the way. Do we have faculty teas for professors we enjoy? Do we have Sunday afternoon open house coffees where friends drop in for conversation? Do undergraduates stand when an alumna or "older person" enters the room? Not usually.

But do we still care deeply about one another? Yes, indeed. In our more casual society, blue jeans and T-shirts have replaced the dark ankle-length skirt and white shirtwaist. But guess what? Ankle-length skirts are back, and there seems to be a subtle return to civility.

We've had a distinguished history, but I guess we really just grew. And we caught a favorable turn of history's wheel. In the beginning, college members were the Fraternity officers. From 1891, the officers were president, vice-president, treasurer, and editor. This format served until 1948, when a second vice-president was added; in 1954 another vice-president was added.

In 1930, emphasis on alumnae began, and a grand alumnae secretary was added to the Grand Council. In 1939, Helen Sackett, Psi/Wisconsin, was appointed executive secretary, and Fraternity records were moved to a new central office in Evanston, Ill.

Special officers were added to the officer complement along the way as needed, and district presidents were added to work with college and alumnae chapters. The first district presidents served both, but as the workload increased, the position was divided into college and alumnae. The first traveling secretary was chosen in 1959; in 1960, the resident counselor program was developed. The chapter consultant program, instituted in 1984, combined those two job descriptions. Now, of course, we have ELCs.

I came on the Theta scene as a charter member of a chapter installed in the then anti-fraternity northeast. As a new graduate I became the advisory board. Yes, the whole board. Then I became a district president, and that meant both college and alumnae chapters and clubs. But this was not for long, since the alumnae district president position was added, and I became a college district president. I was living in Syracuse, NY, at the time, and when I moved there a Welcome Wagon lady called on me. In our conversation, we found out that we were both Thetas. Her name was Peg Flaherty, and she became my alumnae district president partner.

In 1956, the Fraternity hired a management team, Booz, Allen, and Hamilton, to evaluate our procedures. They recommended expanding from a council of seven to a council of 15, with a president, four vice-presidents, and ten members-at-large. A committee system—Administrative, College, Alumnae, Finance, and Service—was set up with the president and vice-presidents each having two members-at-large on her committee.

This opened all kinds of possibilities. Each Council member visited college and alumnae chapters as part of her duties, and every college chapter had a Council visit at least once every four years. Council members also attended district conventions—each district had one during the off-Convention year—and was the keynote speaker.

These were the best of times. Member numbers soared, fraternities were popular, and the Thetas from these years have been a source of strength for the Fraternity. Pledges learned the names of Council members. I still meet Thetas who say, "Oh, I had to learn your name when I was a pledge."

In 1962, the idea of a Foundation blossomed into reality, and there was no longer a need for a Service Committee. Council size was reduced to 13, and the service functions were turned over to the Foundation.

The next major change developed from a need to streamline the administrative setup because of cost. Council size was reduced to seven. The need for additional heads and hands became evident, and regional directors were appointed, first college and alumnae, and then finance and membership. The success of these programs dictated the administrative table of organization the Fraternity adopted in the fall of 1998.

We are at a crossroads. We need to preserve what has been best in the past, a distinguished past, and we need to guarantee that the future is equally distinguished.

We hail from many states and provinces. We are of many ages—young, old, and in-between—of different sizes, varied political convictions, religions, and backgrounds. But we all have one thing in common. We are all members of Kappa Alpha Theta, the first Greek-letter Fraternity known among women. The common bond which holds us together is a strong and constant one, yet a fraternity is a fragile institution dependent on goodwill and shared expectations and sustained by loyalty and affection. It is my hope that this goodwill and these shared expectations will guide us and that our loyalty and affection will be reinforced as we review our heritage and plan for our future.

Our founders did indeed catch a favorable turn of history's wheel. I am convinced that we can do the same. A milestone means a new beginning. Now, as we soon begin a new century, it is appropriate to take a fresh look at what we have and what we are, to make a new commitment to what we hope to be, because "... we are today where yesterday's thoughts have brought us, and we shall be tomorrow where today's thoughts carry us."

Thoreau wrote in Walden, "If you have built castles in the air, your work will need not be lost; that is where they should be. Now put the foundation under them." I am not implying that our four honored founders built castles in the air, because they did not. They constructed a firm foundation forged of enduring values: faith, hope, and love. These are ours to build on.

Dr. Elton Trueblood has said, "What we need in our time is a mature realism which makes us understand that the human predicament is with us to stay. We shall not eliminate sin in others, and we shall not eliminate it in ourselves. We shall not achieve utopia in universities or anywhere else, though we can make some things relatively better than they are."

If we can do this—make things relatively better than they are—we will have achieved something of greatness. ■

District Conventions

The first Kappa Alpha Theta district convention was held 106 years ago in Greencastle, Ind. The chapters represented were Alpha/DePauw, Beta/Indiana, Delta/Illinois, Epsilon/Wooster, and Alpha Gamma/Ohio State.

Strictly speaking, it was not a district convention at all, since districts had not yet been organized. Yet this convention was the genesis for all the district conventions, meetings, and conferences that were to follow, including the 1999 District Leadership Conferences.

▼ Of her district convention experience, one Theta wrote, "Before train time, we all felt so well acquainted that it seemed like one big chapter instead of parts of five."

▼ By 1910, the Fraternity had been organized into nine districts, each with a two-letter Greek name. That year, a district gathering near Kansas City included collegians and alumnae from Kappa/Kansas, Rho/Nebraska, Alpha Iota/Washington-St. Louis, and Alpha Mu/Missouri.

▼ The District I convention in 1975 featured a skit performed at the Gamma Chapter house at Butler.

In 1927 Theta had grown, and the number of districts had been increased from nine to eleven. The two-letter Greek district names had been hard to remember, so districts were now designated by Roman numerals. The District V convention met at the Rho Chapter house in Lincoln, Neb.

1998 Annual Report

August 1, 1997–June 30, 1998

FRATERNITY

When Grand Council decided last summer to move ahead with the restructuring of the Fraternity support system to our college and alumnae programs, we were excited and very hopeful that it would be a positive step into the future. The Structure Task Force had given us the information based on their three years of study, and we felt it was time to act on their findings. We met for a long weekend of planning, followed by appointments to all the new positions and presented the entire plan at Officers' Conference in September in Indianapolis.

There are nine teams in the new structure, and each team is made up of experts in all areas of chapter operation, both college and alumnae. The teams met for the first time at Officers' Conference, formulated plans for the chapters they supervise, and met again at the District Leadership Conferences after the first of the year. Council's hopes for this new approach to the management of the college and alumnae programs have certainly been realized and surpassed. The teams are fabulous. Their camaraderie, expertise, and enthusiasm are exciting to watch. Our college and alumnae programs are the beneficiaries of this new model of management. The teams will meet for a third time at the 1999 Officers' Conference in June and report their progress and formulate ongoing plans for their districts.

A wonderful benefit that has resulted from the new structure is the recruitment of many new Theta volunteers and the continued service of women who served under the old structure. Women have accepted the call to volunteer in areas in which they are knowledgeable or have been willing to be trained in programs in which they have a real interest. Their enthusiasm, expertise, and dedication to their teams, plus the friendships that have developed among them, is the fraternal idea at work. Kappa Alpha Theta is in good hands as we move into the new millennium.

Loyally,

Helen Edwards Woodward, Fraternity President

FOUNDATION

Kappa Alpha Theta: the first Greek-letter fraternity known among women. The Foundation continues to uphold that hallmark. In 1998, the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation was once again first among other fraternity and sorority foundations by giving more than $350,000 in scholarships! These awards range in size from $500 to $10,000 and were given to nearly 150 deserving Thetas.

In addition to scholarships, support to CASA, and our sponsorship of educational programs for collegians and alumnae, the Foundation awarded Leadership Grants allowing collegians to attend a week at LeaderShape Institute. The women who attended reported it as "a life-changing experience." Theta is helping to shape leaders for tomorrow—leaders for Theta and leaders for our communities worldwide!

1998 was a year of growth and change for the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation. Grant-making grew, thanks to the generous annual gifts of more than 10,000 Thetas! Change is always bittersweet, and it always offers new opportunities. Two devoted Trustees retired from the Board, Susan Mueller Sladoje and Joyce Harrison Honeyman (They both remain active on Foundation committees.); while Wendy Sears Goshert and Anne Sadler Budill joined the Board. Wendy's expertise in business and finance and Anne's experience as a development professional will help our Board continue to grow and develop.

Also retiring was executive director Nancy Milligan Frick, after more than 13 years at Headquarters, the last six of which were with the Foundation. (She also promises to remain active as a fund-raising consultant and volunteer.) Beth Bain Casselman became our new executive director in October. She brings strong skills in foundation management from her experience as executive director of a community foundation.

It's a marvelous testament to the vision of our Founders that the ideals of Kappa Alpha Theta have remained the same throughout our growth and change. I'm looking forward to the growth and changes that await us, thanks to the vision of our generous donors!

Loyally,

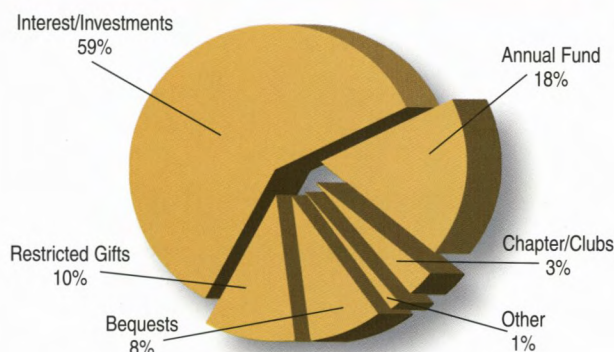

Marilyn Chesher Lynch, Foundation President

KAΘ PROGRAMS

This annual report provides information on Kappa Alpha Theta Fraternity programs during 1998 (January 1-December 31). It also provides program and financial information for the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation for 1998. The financial information for the Fraternity, however, pertains to fiscal 1997-98 (July 1, 1997-June 30, 1998). And readers should also note that some scholarship and Talking About Alcohol information pertains to the 1997-98 academic year.

Grand Convention

"Deep in the Heart" was the theme of Kappa Alpha Theta's sixty-third Grand Convention. More than 850 Thetas gathered in the warm hospitality of Dallas to share ideas, meet new friends, and make important decisions for the future.

Thanks to Foundation funding, nationally recognized speakers addressed the Convention on eating disorders and AIDS awareness. Concurrent sessions concentrated on risk management, chapter finances, chapter image, confrontation, member recruitment, and mentoring. Special Convention guests included the first lady of Texas, Laura Welch Bush, Beta Sigma/SMU, and Olympic gold medalist Kerri Strug, Beta Xi/UCLA.

The Grand Council for 1998-2000 was elected, and one retiring Fraternity vice-president and two retiring Foundation trustees were honored for their years of service.

Fraternity Structure

In August, the Fraternity unveiled a dynamic new district and officer structure. This new structure is the culmination of years of work and study by the Theta 2000 Committee and the Structure Task Force.

The Fraternity is now organized into nine geographic districts, each having a comparable number of college chapters and alumnae groups. A district team of officers, led by the college district president and the alumnae district president, works together in each district to provide a strong network of support both for local groups and for volunteers.

Kappa Alpha Theta collegians face extremely complex issues on their campuses, and alumnae volunteers have ever-increasing demands on their time. The new district team structure addresses these realities by providing support and training that enables and empowers our members.

College Chapter Support

Recognizing that computers have become a necessary and pervasive part of everyday life, Grand Council voted to furnish all Kappa Alpha Theta college chapters with the computer hardware and software they need to function effectively.

By the end of 1998, each chapter had received a computer, a printer, and five Windows-compatible software programs. Chapter Manager, in use by chapters since 1988, is a finance program that provides necessary controls and documentation; Rush Manager accurately tracks membership prospects throughout the rush process; Office 97 includes E-mail capabilities; Front Page enables chapters to create websites with a consistent, professional appearance and to link to the Fraternity's official website; a virus detector helps chapters protect their computers and information.

The $500,000 cost of this tangible demonstration of Theta's commitment to its college chapters was funded entirely from prior years' surpluses.

Growth

The Fraternity celebrated the establishment of the Zeta Psi Chapter at the University of Southern Mississippi. Membership recruitment in April and August yielded Zeta Psi's charter class, and installation took place on Saturday, November 21. Fifty-one collegians were initiated, in addition to nine alumnae from the Hattiesburg, Miss., area. The Delta Kappa Chapter at Louisiana State assisted with the colonization weekend, and the Alpha Phi Chapter at Newcomb-Tulane assisted with initiation activities.

In January 1998, the Fraternity welcomed two new alumnae clubs: the South Hampton Roads Alumnae Club in Virginia and the Northwest Georgia Alumnae Club.

Scholarship

In 1998, the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation awarded more than $352,075 through 145 graduate and undergraduate scholarships. Foundation trustees were thrilled to announce that this amount breaks all previous Theta scholarship records, as well as records of all other men's and women's Greek organizations.

During the 1997-98 academic year, 1250 undergraduate members achieved straight As for at least one school term. The following college chapters achieved the number-one scholarship ranking on their campuses during 1997.

Educational Leadership Consultants

A visit from an educational leadership consultant (ELC) is a positive opportunity for a chapter to learn new ideas, gain valuable insights, and make a new friend. As ambassadors of the Fraternity, ELCs offer support, guidance, and new ideas to college chapter members, advisory and facility corporation boards, and campus administrators. They educate chapters on programming and policies, as well as on current issues facing today's college women. In 1997-98, ten ELCs made more than 180 college chapter visits and worked with more than 2,000 chapter officers and advisers. The ELC program is partially funded by the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation.

LeaderShape

Sixty-nine Theta collegians had the opportunity to experience the LeaderShape Institute, thanks to leadership grants that were made possible by annual fund contributions to the Foundation. The LeaderShape Institute has earned a glowing national reputation for providing an intensive and energizing program designed to produce extraordinary results in participant's organizations while also instilling a high level of integrity. In just six days, participants learn how to create a vision, build teams, implement action plans, and communicate with care and impact.

Officers' Conference and District Leadership Conferences

More than 100 international, district, and special officers attended the Kappa Alpha Theta Officers' Conference in September in Indianapolis. The first Officers' Conference held since 1993 was designed to provide opportunities for professional training, committee meetings, idea sharing, and planning for the future. The nine new district teams met for the first time and began formulating specific goals and plans.

Fraternity officers and staff finalized plans for the 1999 District Leadership Conferences. Multiple conferences held at eight sites on four different weekends were designed to give college chapter officers and members, alumnae group members, advisory board members, and facility corporation board members access to timely leadership training with little inconvenience and at low cost. Training on chapter management, finances, member recruitment, and administration was planned, as was specific programming for alumnae and facility corporation boards.

Talking About Alcohol

Talking About Alcohol (TAA) teaches Thetas how to make low-risk drinking choices. The program offers nonjudgmental, relevant risk-reduction information. The goal of TAA is not simply to increase alcohol awareness but also to provide information needed to avoid alcohol-related health and impairment problems for a lifetime.

During the 1997-98 academic year, more than 1,000 collegians participated in TAA, and 18 Thetas served as trained volunteer facilitators. TAA is partially funded by the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation.

The Kappa Alpha Theta Magazine Honored

Each year, the College Fraternity Editor's Association (CFEA) honors achievement in fraternal publications. Awards of excellence are given in many categories, and member organizations may enter one item in each category. Entries are judged by professionals in the fields of journalism and publishing.

"A Yankee in UNC's Court," by Jan Schmitz Mathew (The Magazine, Winter 1997-98), was recognized with a certificate of merit during CFEA's 1998 conference.

Foundation Honored

At the 1998 Foundations Seminar, the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation was honored with four awards: Best Development Effort (major gift campaign), Best Support of Outside Philanthropy, Best Special Event, and Best Student Development Effort (annual campaign).

CASA Update

The CASA/Theta relationship continued to grow and strengthen in 1998. The Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation provided $60,000 in funding for National CASA; these funds provided education, training and recruitment support for volunteers, including publications, website development, their toll-free phone number, and the Program Director of the Year Award. Additionally, the Foundation gave more than $120,000 in local program grants, which were made possible through the fund-raising efforts of our alumnae and college chapters.

Every day, 8,600 children are reported as abused, neglected, or abandoned and 500 are placed in foster care or institutions. Theta's contributions are helping to provide volunteer advocates for these children and to place them more quickly in a safe, permanent environment.

Friendship Fund

In 1998, the Foundation received more than $24,000 in gifts from Thetas contributing to the Friendship Fund at their Founders Day celebrations. These thoughtful donations helped to provide Friendship Fund gifts of almost $11,000 to members experiencing extreme financial hardship due to serious or terminal illness, job loss, natural disaster, and other devastating occurrences. The Friendship Fund, which was established in 1926, continues to tangibly demonstrate the love and concern we have for one another as Theta sisters.

Services Endorsed by KAΘ

Burr Patterson & Auld Company is the official jeweler of the Fraternity. They manufacture all official and accessory jewelry. Royalties from this association average just over $100,000.

The Right Connection, doing business as The Pansy Peddler, has been our third-party merchandise vendor for three years. Royalties in 1998 were in excess of $5,700.

Beginning in 1999, First Tennessee Bank will assume the management of the Fraternity's affinity charge card. Coverdell Company will continue to provide insurance services. Royalties from these two programs average $25,000.

The Fraternity also works with National Collegiate to provide members with the KAΘ credit phone card, with INTRAV to provide cruise services, and with QSP to provide discount magazine subscriptions. In 1999, the Fraternity will begin an affiliation with Affinity Products, Inc., to provide Theta alumnae with credit phone calling cards, Internet service, and enhanced phone services. We will receive 25 percent royalties from this new venture.

New Education Law Guarantees Freedoms

Higher Education Amendments of 1998. Section 112: Protection of Student Speech and Association Rights.

"... no student attending an institution of higher education on a full- or part-time basis should, on the basis of participation in protected speech or protected association, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination or official sanction under any education program, activity or division of the institution directly or indirectly receiving financial assistance under this Act, whether or not such a program, activity or division is sponsored or officially sanctioned by the institution."

Students attending federally funded private colleges and universities now will have the right to enjoy the same freedoms of speech and association as their fellow students at public institutions.

New Section 112 of the more comprehensive Higher Education Act signed into law by President Clinton on October 7, gives private institutions of higher education the same level of responsibility that has been expected of public institutions to ensure the Constitutional rights of their students.

Other sections of the legislation address student financial aid provisions, including the lowest student loan interest rate in 17 years, and the monitoring and reporting of campus crimes and drug/alcohol abuse.

In speaking to the freedom of speech and association provisions of the bill on the floor of the House of Representatives, Robert Livingston (R-Louisiana) made specific reference to sororities and fraternities. "The controversy," he said, "centers on a decision by some private schools to ban all single-sex organizations like fraternities and sororities and restrict any student involvement with them, even if it is off campus and on their own time."

National Interfraternity Conference Board member and US Congressman Edward Pease (R-Indiana) points to the fairness of the amendment. Pease says, "In its guarantee of student rights, the Act does not prohibit institutions from sanctioning students who disrupt educational programs of the institution or who violate state liquor laws, engage in sexual harassment, haze, or maintain unsanitary or unsafe residences."

Provisions in other sections of the legislation, however, may significantly alter an institution's approach to campus crime reporting and the release of student information, according to Dennis Black, vice-president for student affairs, University of Buffalo, SUNY. "Government crime reporting requirements now will extend to incidents in non-campus buildings or on non-campus properties owned or controlled by recognized student organizations, like those operated by Greek-letter organizations," Black says. "Fraternity and sorority group and member misconduct may now be subject to even greater public scrutiny than before. Schools are going to want to know more about what is going on in houses in order to comply with the law."

The new version of the Act permits colleges and universities to advise parents or guardians of under-age students of violations of alcohol or drug possession laws. "Depending on campus approach," Black says, "this could lead to at least one awkward situation: a school sharing drug or alcohol information, but not academic grades, with a parent or guardian." The federal government now can fine schools found in violation of these reporting requirements.

While those affiliated with sororities and fraternities have gained confirmation of their freedom of speech and association rights, Black says he believes that "...increased college and university attention to crime, crime reporting, and crime disclosure should be expected as a result of this bill."

NOTES

Building Hope and Houses

At an age when many people are anticipating retirement, Patsy Snider Brewer, Beta Epsilon/Oregon State, is well into her second career. "For years, I was a corporate wife," she explains. "I trailed all over the country with my husband. But since he retired, we've switched roles. And I couldn't work the hours I do, attend the evening meetings I do.... I couldn't do this job without his support."

In her position as executive director of Habitat for Humanity of Fayetteville (Ark.), Brewer wears many hats, including those of administrator, fund-raiser, counselor, and community liaison. She clearly adores the work. "I love Habitat because of the people involved with it. It brings in people from all over the community; it's a diverse and eclectic group. It's wonderful to work with families and see the growth."

The Fayetteville affiliate of Habitat for Humanity was founded in 1992, and Brewer has been involved almost from the beginning. She began as a volunteer, then became a member of the board, and finally was chosen as the group's first executive director. She describes the entire Habitat organization as grassroots, because the approximately 1,300 individual affiliates were formed to answer individual communities' needs. "Habitat doesn't look at a map of the world and decide where affiliates will form," she says. "The communities have to make the effort. There are regional offices for guidance and information, but each affiliate is autonomous. We do our own thing."

Thanks in part to the involvement of Jimmy and Roselyn Carter, the international Habitat for Humanity ministry has gained media coverage and public recognition since its beginnings in Americus, Ga., in 1972. With community donations and volunteer labor, Habitat builds homes with families and then sells the homes to the families at no profit and no interest. Guidelines specify that families must meet three criteria: the need for adequate shelter, the ability to pay, and the willingness to partner.

A family is judged to be in need when its current shelter has structural problems or inadequate space, its income level is inadequate to obtain a conventional or government-support mortgage, and the maximum household gross income is less than 50 percent of the community's median family income. A family is considered able to pay when its minimum gross income is 25 percent of median family income, when it can pay a cash down payment and closing costs totaling two percent of the anticipated mortgage amount, when it can make monthly house payments in addition to current debt, when it has references and a satisfactory credit history, and when it meets specific income guidelines. To show its willingness to partner, a family must complete 400 hours of sweat equity before closing on the house; maintain the home upon occupancy; participate in Habitat's nurturing program; and share its story upon request with the media, local individuals, and organizations.

"It's a wonderful opportunity," says Brewer. "They're buying the house at no cost, with a no-interest mortgage. Many of them couldn't have a home any other way. And they know it. They make the statement, 'This is my last chance. I have no other chance.'"

The Fayetteville Habitat recently selected six new families with whom they will build homes. Although they have worked with all types of families, Brewer says that five of those six comprise a single mother with two children. "We really want to be a part of their families and for them to be a part of our family. Just like any family, we share our problems and work them out. We build houses, but we say that we also build hope."

Although each Habitat project is dear to her heart, a house completed in the summer of 1998 will remain especially memorable for Brewer. Called the House That Jane Build, it was an all-woman project, the first of its kind in Northwest Arkansas. The idea of a house built entirely by women had been in the back of her mind for a long time, says Brewer, and it was one of the most exciting projects with which she's been involved. "We're in an area of the country and a community where there are lots of people in nontraditional roles. On the Jane house, we had a professional woman electrician, a plumber, carpenters, sheetrock workers, and the site coordinator was a female architect. We had one man, because the woman who had signed up as the heating contractor had to go out of town. So her company sent a replacement."

"We knew we would need 300 women to pull it off, and we just kept getting more volunteers. Finally, we had 563 actual workers. And everyone said it was such a privilege to be allowed to come out and work."

The Jane house was invigorating to the entire Fayetteville community, not just to the volunteer house-builders, Brewer recalls. "Everyone was smiling when they talked about the project—the whole town. It was neat." She hopes to schedule some "Jane Reunion" days that would give the Jane workers the opportunity to volunteer on other projects.

Her other hopes for Habitat include seeking sponsorships from community groups and enhancing the endowment fund. Her ultimate goal, though, is simple: "We just need to build more houses."

Reaching these goals will consume much of Patsy Brewer's time, but she will also continue to be a "hands-on" grandmother (Her four grandchildren spend a portion of each summer in Fayetteville.), a member of the Northwest Arkansas Alumnae Club (She is a past president of the group.), and an active Rotarian (She is a Paul Harris Fellow.)

"My role model is a gal who's 89 years old," Brewer reveals. "She travels all over the world doing mission work. She's seeing and doing new things all the time. If you're not out doing things and being with people, you don't know what's going on. You just die; you just shrivel up and die. Life is too short for that."

Flying High in the NFL

by Erin Kretzschmar, AM/Missouri

As a young girl, Kara Swensen was sure she'd fly one day. She thought she'd follow in her father's footsteps and sit behind the controls of an F-14 plane; instead, she's flying, so to speak, with a group of Seahawks in Seattle.

Employed since July 1998 with the Seattle Seahawks professional football team, Swensen, Beta Nu/Florida State, is a coaching assistant in the National Football League (NFL)—the only female on the Seahawks' coaching staff.

So how did this 1998 Arizona State University graduate with a major in aeronautical technology wind up working for a professional football team?

Swensen pledged Kappa Alpha Theta at Beta Nu in the fall of 1993, knowing she would transfer to a flight school one day. That day came 18 months later when she transferred to Arizona State University. Although it is known for its flight program, ASU offered Swensen an opportunity in addition to aeronautics. In the fall of 1996, she began ordering and managing equipment for 26 ASU varsity sports — all the sports except football. She gradually moved her way up, eventually landing a position with the Sun Devils football team.

"At this point, I realized I wanted to work for the NFL," Swensen says. "Showing a desire is key. If people see your excitement and energy, they'll want you."

Swensen had a chance to showcase her enthusiasm and dedication at ASU's pro timing days in the spring of 1998. On three different days in the spring, numerous NFL representatives visited ASU to scout the football talent there. The ASU coaches were busy with "spring ball," so Swensen organized and ran the timing days. This opportunity allowed her to prove herself as a dedicated individual in the eyes of the NFL scouts, even though she's a female.

"I would walk into a room at the athletic facilities and the NFL coaches and scouts would look at me like 'Wrong room, sweetheart!' Within thirty minutes, they understood I was running the show and that I was there for a reason."

With the same determination, Swensen pursued a career with a professional football team. Following the pro timing days, she sent thank-you notes and resumes to the NFL representatives and called many of them from Arizona.

"I used to get up at 5 a.m. and make phone calls to the East Coast to make sure I reached people before I left for work or class myself. I took advantage of the NFL's interest in ASU's players and let them know of my interest in working for them and how I could help them achieve a successful season."

Following her May 1998 graduation, Swensen received a phone call from a representative with the Jacksonville Jaguars professional football team. He had worked with her at one of ASU's pro timing days and his brother is the vice-president of football operations with the Seattle Seahawks. The two brothers' casual conversation about Swensen's interest in employment with the NFL and her success at ASU's pro timing days turned into the opportunity for which Swensen had been waiting.

After interviewing with the Seahawks and landing her job as the coaching assistant, Swensen moved to Washington a week before training camp in July of 1998.

Swensen's job description includes preparing call sheets and play cards for each game using computer software called GI2000, the "cutting edge" in such programs. She is also responsible for the ready list, an outline for the defensive and offensive game formations.

"At the start of the week, we study film and decide what offensive and defensive plays would work best against the opponent," Swensen explains. "We've got to coordinate plays to match their defense or their offense. We choose plays and practice those all week long."

From the start, Swensen faced daily challenges as a female in an obviously male-dominated environment. As the only female with the Seahawks, she bunked in a dorm—by herself—during training camp.

"I'm usually the only female employee on bus rides and planes to away games," says Swensen.

She soon realized she wasn't being treated as a member of the coaching staff, or as any part of the team. She couldn't gain access to the field. She wasn't learning any of the plays. She wasn't able to do her job.

Determined to make the situation work and to prove she belonged in her position, she talked things over with the Seahawks employees who had hired her. "I told them I needed to take advantage of the time at training camp to learn all I could, especially the formations during practice," Swensen says. "You've got to carry yourself like a lady and a professional and you've got to stand up for yourself. But at the same time, you've got to let them see you're one of the guys and can do your job well."

After establishing her role within the team, the challenge of verbal comments from her coworkers came next. Swensen confronted those individuals who made her feel uncomfortable with their language and let them know she wasn't going anywhere. She had a job to do in Seattle.

"I'm here for a job and don't want to be treated any differently. I had to step back and look at the big picture—who I could trust and who I should talk to in certain situations. It's hard for people to realize that women are getting into NFL relations. I had to tell myself not to let it all get to me. I'd worked too hard to get here."

Despite the hardships she's faced thus far, Swensen definitely enjoys her job. She still dreams of flying a plane someday but she feels she currently has a role to fulfill with the Seahawks. If she does decide her career path leads her to stay with the NFL, Swensen would pursue a role within a team's community relations and special events planning. She encourages other females to pursue employment opportunities within the world of professional sports and not to become discouraged when the outlook seems bleak.

"When you work with people that you respect and that respect you, it's all worth it. The coaching staff has been my biggest support. Once you get your foot in the door, things become so much easier!"

The Joy of Volunteering

by Beth Matter, AIT/Tennessee

Perhaps no one appreciates the familiar adage, "Busy hands, happy heart," more than Helen Edwards Woodward, Alpha Omicron/Oklahoma, Fraternity president.

Her work for Kappa Alpha Theta and her family have kept Woodward both busy and happy for more than 20 years. Yet it was while she was recovering from a frightening illness—cancer—that she discovered exactly how important staying busy was to her emotional well-being.

In 1987, Woodward was a full-time homemaker ("My family has been my career," she says.) and a volunteer college regional director responsible for 35 college chapters. She had previously served as rush adviser to the Alpha Omicron Chapter and as a college district president. But her contented life was suddenly disrupted that July by the unthinkable, breast cancer. "It was very traumatic to be only 45 and get that diagnosis," she recalls. "I had three children at home, the youngest only 10 years old."

Following surgery, her prognosis was good: there had been no lymph node involvement, and she needed no chemotherapy or radiation treatment. "My health at the point was fine, but I was not fine emotionally," Woodward explains. "I was anxious and worried that I would have a recurrence. If I did, what would happen to my children?"

A phone call that November from then-Fraternity president Sue Supple proved fortuitous. The vice-president college had resigned. Would Woodward be interested in taking the position and finishing out the term until the 1988 Grand Convention?

Although still stressed from dealing with the cancer, Woodward decided the job would be therapeutic. "I knew it was a huge undertaking but that it would take my mind off myself."

If she had thought she was busy before, she now understood what it was to be really busy. The vice-president college job is the most demanding in the Fraternity, Woodward believes, because of the direct responsibility for all of the college chapters. "It can be overwhelming. You get late-night phone calls, many of them regarding situations that may well be dangerous for an individual collegian, an individual chapter, or—ultimately—the entire Fraternity."

"Heading into Grand Convention, I immediately had to hold a committee meeting and plan the college programming for the convention. When you come into a job at the end of a term, you have to pick it up quickly and do the best you can."

Although it was a hectic experience, Woodward considers it invaluable. "Daily, I had to get outside myself and do something for someone else. That in turn helped me recover by lifting my spirits. Staying busy at something you enjoy and think worthwhile, and not dwelling on the negative, is a cure-all for many things."

Throughout that period of recovery and the first partial term as vice-president, she was also buoyed by gestures of support from fellow Thetas. "I got many notes and calls at the hospital from collegians and alumnae I had known for years, plus congratulatory notes and calls again when I agreed to take the job. This meant a lot to me; it's true that friendships are important."

Re-elected to the office of vice-president college, Woodward then went on to serve as vice-president development, vice-president membership, and president. Now in her second term as president, she spends her time traveling to National Panhellenic Conference meetings, Foundation meetings, and chapter installations, as well as planning conferences, writing legislation, and helping design positive programs to lead the Fraternity into the 21st century.

While the job is fulfilling, its major drawback for Woodward is that it doesn't allow her much interaction with collegians, something she values. "As you go higher in the Fraternity hierarchy, you get further and further from the college students," she says. "I relish the times I do get to visit college chapters. We need to stay in touch with them because they are ultimately the people we serve."

She also values the encouragement she has received from other officers—especially former Fraternity presidents Norma Jorgensen and Lissa Bradford—as well as the hard work of other volunteers. "All council jobs are difficult, and you can't do them by yourself. You have to have good committee people, something with which I have always been blessed."

It's unfortunate, Woodward says, that volunteerism is decreasing for all organizations, including Theta, because more women are in the work force. "The days of people volunteering 20 straight years for an organization, as I have done, are over.

"If we are to survive as Greeks, our college chapters have to have help from the alumnae. Volunteers are needed not only for the alumnae arm of the Fraternity, but also as mentors to our collegians. Young women today perhaps need support more than ever before. In a world where there is little stability, the Fraternity can be a constant with the ongoing support of alumnae acting as advisers."

In order to facilitate the recruitment and retention of Theta volunteers, the Fraternity adopted a new officer and district structure in the fall of 1998. Woodward believes that the new structure offers a team approach that will be more supportive of volunteers as well as college and alumnae programs.

She personally urges interested Thetas to consider serving a college chapter as rush adviser. It's one of the best jobs in the Fraternity, she says. "You have the pleasure of working closely with collegians during a happy, exciting time. And to see students grow and develop is very rewarding."

As she reflects on her life, Woodward says, "Cancer is just a thing that happened to me along the way. A scary event, it temporarily sidetracked me, but I kept saying 'yes' to jobs I was offered in the Fraternity. They have all been positive experiences and helped me through a bad time."

"For every volunteer job I have done for Theta, something good has come back to me, more than I have given."

Lending a Caring Hand

by Sharon Cooper, Δ/Ilinois

Jennifer Cook, Alpha Epsilon/Brown, spends her days and many of her nights helping women and children through a very difficult time. She understands about difficult times, because she's experienced her own.

Cook is a domestic violence counselor for the Charlotte-Mecklenburg, NC, Police Department. The role calls for Cook and three other counselors to serve as educators and liaisons for police. But that's only the beginning. They are also crisis counselors, court advocates, case planners, and—hopefully—friends to the women and children who need their help.

It's not a role that Jennifer has always planned to play. But it is a role in which she feels she belongs today: enabling people to make a difference in their own lives.

"One of my clients has a nine-year-old girl with cerebral palsy," Cook says. "The little girl was ecstatic this Christmas because Santa remembered her and brought her a present. In the past, this child had watched helplessly from her chair as her father beat her mother."

Cook also relates the story of how another client called to say she had taken a walk. "That might sound trivial, but to her, it was a huge step. She's just gotten out of a battering situation, and then she was raped. When this woman went for a walk, she redefined success. It was a triumph for her. It was freedom. I feel good knowing I have some part in helping others gain control of their lives."

Several years ago, it was Cook herself who had to gain control of her life. While she was in college, an 18-month-old relationship escalated from verbal to physical abuse and then to sexual violence. What she learned from that very personal experience was that it can happen to anyone. And that while friends and loved ones want desperately to help, in most cases, they simply don't know what to do.

Cook points out that there were no resources for victims of dating abuse or for the people who wanted to assist the victims. So while still in college, she set out to change that, by speaking publicly and openly about her own experience. "My first speech was to a chapter retreat where I learned that other Thetas had been victims of domestic violence or other sexually violent situations," Cook says. "Many had never spoken about it before."

In fact, one of every four college women is a victim of domestic or dating violence. So Cook, with the help of other Alpha Epsilon women, started a campus support group and other educational programs. These included a Theta outreach program called If the Noise Coming From Next Door Was Loud Music, You'd Do Something About It. Cook also began speaking on behalf of local women's organizations, area hospitals, high schools, and colleges.

After graduating from Brown, Cook moved to Charlotte, NC, where the opportunity with the police department came at just the right time. "Something just clicked, and I knew I'd found what I was looking for," she says.

The job is challenging and, at times, heartbreaking. But by working with judges, the Department of Social Services, and other victim's assistance agencies, Cook has gotten a clear look at the services and support that are available to people who need help. She thinks that more can be done; she hopes that earning a master's degree in social work with a minor in law from Columbia University, plus her ongoing involvement with lawmakers, law enforcement officials, and her clients will make a difference.

"This is not where I expected to be in my life and certainly not where everyone else expected me to be. But my family and friends are proud of what I'm doing. And I know how very lucky and blessed I am to know how precious relationships are and to not take anything for granted."

At the same time, she says, "I know I still have clients out there that I've worked with extensively and done everything I can for. And I know there's a good chance they're still going to be killed. That's very hard to accept."

It's why Jennifer Cook is committed to making a difference, on a different path that may lead to something better for all of us. ■

Denver Responds to Growth

- by Allison Ratkovich

It's a hot market in Denver, and everyone knows we're not talking about the weather. With rapid growth both geographically and economically in the Denver Metro area, the Denver Alumnae Chapter has found a successful solution to the challenge of growth and opportunities for alumnae involvement. Through an increased effort to market special interest group membership, the chapter has seen an increase in chapter participation and interest. It's not a new concept, but it has become an answer to an ever-increasing problem of encouraging alumnae participation and camaraderie in a high-growth area.

"Special interest groups have really provided our chapter with an answer to the growth issue," explains Jenny Hock, chapter president. "It's no longer easy to find a central location or convenient time for general meetings that all members throughout the Denver area can attend. Special interest groups give us a more convenient option and allow us to develop bonds with other alumnae in a smaller group setting."

In addition to monthly programs and officer meetings, special interest groups meet separately, giving alumnae the chance to form bonds with others in the Metro area who share common interests. The special interest groups include: Antiques Club, Bridge Group, Downtown Lunch Bunch, Lunch Bunch, Moms & Tots, Investment Club, Hiking Club, Nite Kites (for recently graduated alumnae), Gourmet Club, Life History Club, and a newly created Creative Memories Club. Several are new and many more are being considered.

As our community continues to grow, the Denver Alumnae Chapter will continue to look for ways to reach out and encourage Thetas for a lifetime.

Members of the Denver Alumnae Chapter believe that a wide variety of special-interest groups have been the key to success. One such group is the Hiking Club, which scheduled a cross-country ski day.

Six Alumnae Chapters Highlight Their Successful Programs, Members, & Fund-raisers

Philadelphia-Area Alumnae Chapter Celebrates 100 Years

- by Amy Bird

The Philadelphia-area Theta alumnae chapter is pleased to look back on 1998 as an exciting year for two major activities. Although planning for the chapter's Centennial Celebration began long before 1998, final details for the big event were finalized throughout the year. Widely anticipated by alumnae, the celebration was held in October near the actual anniversary date, and almost 100 women attended the luncheon. A moving display of old photos and news articles from the archives showed the progression of the alumnae chapter as it has grown over the years.

Founders Day, usually celebrated in February, was commemorated in October to combine the two events in 1998. A special candle-lighting ceremony took place during the regular Founders Day toast. Each table had four candles so that everyone in attendance was able to participate in honor of our four founders. A special activity for the year included a fund-raising effort for the chapter's Scholarship Fund. The Outstanding Theta of the Year, Karen Klomp, was also announced, and the participants honored the chapter's 50- and 75-year Thetas.

In addition to being the year of our centennial, 1998 was a record-setting year raising funds for CASA. An annual fund-raising event, CASA Dream Houses for Kids, was very well-received and raised more than $11,000. These funds allow the chapter to help

CASA serve more than 900 abused and neglected children in the Delaware County Juvenile Court System. The event includes a raffle for children's playhouses, built and donated by the Home Builders Association of Delaware County. Alumnae and actives from the Beta Eta Chapter at the University of Pennsylvania donated more than 150 hours of volunteer time coordinating the event.

Pittsburgh Thetas Raffle "Casas for Kids"

- by Pam Pasternak

Pittsburgh-area Thetas were seen hanging out at local malls this past winter. Were they doing their holiday shopping? No! As always, Thetas have a nobler purpose. In this circumstance, they were raising money for CASA and the Simon Youth Foundation.

The Pittsburgh Alumnae Chapter, along with the Simon Property Group and Lilliput Playhomes, sponsored Casas for Kids. This event teamed not only collegians and alumnae, but also CASA volunteers and Junior League members. More than 10,000 raffle tickets for three charming children's dren's playhouses (donated by Lilliput) were sold. The Pittsburgh Chapter was thrilled to be joined in this effort by all four of the area college chapters—Allegheny, Carnegie Mellon, University of Pittsburgh, and Washington & Jefferson.

Chapter President Anne Rocco Countouris deftly managed the largest fund-raising event in the 96-year history of the Pittsburgh Chapter. This included coordinating the staffing of three event booths located in area Simon-managed malls for a three-week period during the holiday season! At this writing the event is still going on, but Pittsburgh Thetas are happy to report that by the end of the first week $5,000 was raised for two charities.

Louise Renne: Fighting for San Francisco

- by Leslie Kim

She's taken on big tobacco and the Bank of America, fighting for San Francisco's kids and taxpayers. San Francisco Alumnae Club member Louise Renne, Beta Pi/Michigan State, San Francisco's city attorney, had a banner year in 1998, taking on and winning big against the behemoth tobacco and banking industries.

A former California Deputy Attorney General and member of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, Renne has pioneered innovative programs to protect San Francisco. When the California Attorney General's office bucked the nationwide call to recoup public health costs associated with smoking-related illnesses and declined to sue tobacco companies, Renne filed suit on behalf of the city and county of San Francisco in federal court. Renne enlisted other California cities and counties to join the suit and last fall joined a proposed $200 billion settlement between 46 states' attorneys general and the tobacco industry.

Renne also took aim at the Bank of America, which allegedly mishandled hundreds of millions of city dollars while serving as trustee of the city's municipal bonds—bonds that helped fund schools, fire protection, and public works. San Francisco and nearly 300 other California municipalities eventually negotiated a landmark $187.5 million settlement in November of 1998 with Bank of America to recoup funds lost because of its trust practices.

Her 12 years of service as city attorney have benefited San Francisco and its residents immeasurably. As Thetas, we can all appreciate Renne's spirit of perseverance and independence in the face of numerous challenges. Renne is an outstanding Theta and an inspiration to us all.

High-Tech Thetas From the Silicon Valley

- by Dana Hemenez Bruning

When you think of the Silicon Valley, what comes to mind? Those of us who live in and around the Silicon Valley know that the area is full of companies on the cutting edge of technology—Intel, 3Com, Cisco Systems, Lucent Technologies, and many more. In addition to these hi-tech companies, the Silicon Valley is also home to many technically savvy Theta alumnae.

The entire board and many of the members of the San Jose/South Bay Alumnae Chapter are online and have E-mail accounts. Over the past two years, the chapter has virtually eliminated paper minutes by E-mailing minutes to all members with an E-mail account. We also use E-mail to send out reminders about upcoming programs and special events. Gone are the days when we relied on "snail mail" to convey minutes to board members. Our meetings have also become more efficient because of the little things that can be communicated with E-mail between meetings.

In addition, our alumnae district officer, Jane Dick, has put together a website for our district (<http://www.scruz.net/kevind/Theta8home.htm>). Geographically, District VIII is the largest district in Theta – it is our hope that this website can make us the closest in terms of teamwork, constructive brainstorming, collective service to the Fraternity, and sisterhood!

The San Jose/South Bay Chapter is also working on a chapter website that should be going live in early 1999! Our website will contain information about our chapter board members, a calendar of programs and events, chapter news, scholarship information, and pictures of past programs and events. We know that this site will provide an additional forum for our alumnae to keep in touch with one another and with Theta.

Casas for Kids—a raffle of three playhouses—was tremendously successful for the Pittsburgh Alumnae Chapter.

An annual potluck supper helps the Columbus Alumnae Chapter introduce new members and announce new officers.

Send us an E-mail or catch us on the web. We'd love to "chat" with you over the computer and fill you in on all the happenings in the Silicon Valley!

Washington DC/Suburban Maryland Alumnae Chapter

- by Karen E. Weiner

Last year (1997-98 fiscal year), the Washington DC/Suburban Maryland Chapter set a goal of expanding its chapter to 100 members, and we made it! We approached the problem from several angles. Initially, we instituted a writing campaign to all non-paid members who had been paying dues within the last few years. This was quite successful. In addition, we updated and reinitiated a monthly phone tree to all dues-paying members. The phone tree provided an opportunity for members to find out about the next month's events and provide a "personal contact" point for questions.

In 1997 and 1998, we continued the phone tree, tried some ZIP code parties, and added special interest groups. ZIP code parties were particularly successful. A member sent out invitations to all Thetas living nearby (the list was generated from information provided by Headquarters); then the member hosted an "Open House" or a "Meet at the Coffee Shop" opportunity for neighbors to come together and realize that a Kappa Alpha Theta alumnae chapter existed. Once the group got together, the suggestion was made to get together monthly at the same time and place. The North Potomac/Darnestown Starbucks group was extremely successful. All of the women who attended the first party have since attended at least one of the alumnae chapter's social events. Some have joined the board! The special interest groups have also been successful. The Dinner Groups continue to bring in new members, as does the Thetas with Young Children group. That group has provided the chapter with six new members, and one has hosted a chapter event this fall. From these activities, we learned a very important lesson. If an organization sets goals to attain new members and keep previous ones, it needs to build a relationship between the members. People want to attend events where there will be people they know and care about. Friendship is the bottom line.

Alcohol-Free Events

Editor's note: In each spring issue of The Magazine, we publish short articles written by college chapter editors. These articles are compiled into a feature—On Campus—that is intended to give readers a sense of what life is like for Theta collegians across the continent. This year, twelve college editors wrote about successful alcohol-free activities in which their chapters have participated.

B/Indiana

The Beta Chapter facility, one of the oldest in the nation, is located in the center of the Indiana University campus.

The women of the Beta Chapter have been actively involved in a variety of social, academic, and philanthropic events, including Greekfest, a campus-wide Greek philanthropic event. The proceeds from Greekfest went to the United Way of Bloomington and the American Red Cross. Some of the highlights of the week included Greek Olympics, a guest speaker, a blood drive for the American Red Cross, Greek Bowl, soccer tournaments, a block party, and the election of a Greekfest king and queen. Two women in our chapter were nominated for queen. Greekfest was a wonderful opportunity to support the community and show our Theta spirit!

Imagine standing (and remaining awake) for 36 hours with 700 other people. These 36 hours are filled with musical performances from local bands, catered meals, lots of games, and even back massages! This phenomenon is known as Dance Marathon on the IU campus. Dance Marathon was started by a woman from our chapter, Jill Stewart, in 1991. Stewart was a friend of the late Ryan White and was inspired to continue his fight for a cure for the AIDS virus. Dance Marathon was established to raise money for Riley Hospital for Children in Indianapolis for the establishment of the Ryan White Infectious Disease Center. This year the event raised $230,500. It is now the third largest philanthropy put on by a college/university in the nation. Perhaps one of the most special parts of the marathon is when the children from Riley come to the dance with their parents. The dancers have the opportunity to interact with the children and talk with the parents whose children are Riley patients. Women from our chapter participate in all aspects of the Dance Marathon organization, from being chairpersons to dancers. Jill Stewart's vision has grown into an event that brings the entire campus together. Dance Marathon's slogan most appropriately encompasses its mission: "The Chance of a Lifetime to Give a Lifetime of Chance."

In addition to all of these exciting activities, the Beta chapter is now on the World Wide Web: <http://php.indiana.edu/~theta/home.html>. We invite you to tour our web page and learn even more about the exciting activities and amazing women at Indiana University!

ΑΓ/Ohio State

Fifty-seven girls from the Alpha Gamma Chapter at The Ohio State University finished the 1998 spring quarter with a grade point average above 3.0. Our chapter ended the school year with a GPA of 3.09, good enough for second place among all Greek sororities.

The Beta Chapter facility was filled with little angels, dinosaurs, pirates, and princesses at Halloween. Chapter members decorate the house, and invite the children of alumnae for trick-or-treat.

For the second year, the women of our chapter worked at the annual Ohio CASA Convention in Columbus. For two days we helped register CASA volunteers, sell CASA merchandise, and direct people to various events. We have enjoyed doing this for the past two years, and the volunteers really appreciate our help. This year they printed T-shirts for us.

AM/Missouri

Fall 1998 brought many new memories to the women of Alpha Mu. The chapter enjoyed another spectacular rush, even though there were several changes to the process. New to this year's rush was a service project in which Thetas and rushees made cat-shaped pillows to give to CASA. Thanks to everyone's hard work, 58 outstanding new members were recently initiated.

Alpha Mu participated in Homecoming with the men of Sigma Phi Epsilon and Beta Sigma Psi. We earned first place in the skit competition, fourth place for our in-between act (an cappella version of Billy Joel's "For the Longest Time"), and third place overall.

Alpha Mu also raised money for several philanthropies. We placed first in both the Alpha Kappa Lambda and Phi Delta Theta philanthropy competitions.

ΑΠ/North Dakota

Alpha Pi Chapter holds an annual service event each April. Known as "Theta-DU Helping Humanity," the women from Alpha Pi and the men from Delta Upsilon work together to raise awareness of the homelessness problem in our community. For four days and three nights, members from the two chapters maintained a constant presence in large boxes in front of the student union. Donations of toiletries, blankets, and other items were collected during the event.

This event was planned by the service chairmen from our chapter and Delta Upsilon. Theta and Delta Upsilon received press coverage in both the student and city newspapers. The event was the subject of an editorial in the city newspaper, drawing attention to the homeless population in the city of Grand Forks.

Theta-DU Helping Humanity was a successful social and service event that did not include alcohol. Events of this type not only call attention to social problems, but also are good ways to promote the positive contributions to society made by Greek organizations. Alpha Pi members take part in our own service opportunities, such as Adopt-a-Highway and Adopt-a-School, as well as participating in the philanthropy events held by other chapters.

ΓΓ/Rollins

The Gamma Gamma Chapter of Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla., recently helped sponsor the school's annual Greek Week celebration. It was implemented by ACE (All Campus Events) and planned by the collective group of fraternities and sororities on campus. Each sorority was paired up with a fraternity. This year, we were pleased to be placed with the brothers from Alpha Tau Omega. The Greek Week activities included a discussion on Greek life, a barbecue, and a relay/raft race. Theta and ATΩ won the relay race, which included carrying an egg on a spoon, a wheelbarrow race, a three-legged race, and a lap across the pool. The dynamic duo finished fourth out of six in the raft race, due to a slight flotation problem. The week was finished off with a concert in the Enyart Field House, featuring Rusted Root and the Samples. Overall, the event was extremely successful, and a good time was had by all!

ΓΘ/Carnegie-Mellon

Back in 1984, our chapter and campus communities were blessed with a warm-hearted, energetic, and giving woman, Karin Johnson, better known as KJ. Tragically, KJ died of an acute asthma attack over the Thanksgiving holiday. Yet she is far from forgotten. Her giving spirit remains to inspire us—a spirit that embues all of us as we dedicate our time and energies to our chapter's philanthropy events. We have two major components to our philanthropy program: our annual "Mr. Fraternity" competition and a plan instituted this year called the "Theta 5."

Every fall semester, our chapter organizes Mr. Fraternity. Each of the fourteen fraternities on campus nominates a brother to compete, and a selected group of faculty serves as the judges. Our chapter raised more than $5000, all of which was donated to the Central Ohio Breathing Association in memory of KJ. The money is used for asthma research.

Our philanthropic endeavors did not end with the crowning of Mr. Fraternity. Every semester, each sister must donate five hours of her time to community service, doing activities of her choice. The only requirement is that the activity be done with at least one other sister. It's a two for one: community service and sister bonding! Our chapter has been involved in a variety of activities: walking dogs at the local animal shelter, building gingerbread houses to give to handicapped children, preparing and serving meals to the elderly, helping out at several CASA events in the Pittsburgh area, and painting windows to brighten the atmosphere of the hospital. The sisters of the Gamma Theta Chapter strive to have a positive force in both the Carnegie Mellon and Pittsburgh communities; we aspire to keep KJ's spirit alive.

While the highest bidders left with prized possessions, CASA was the real winner. Gamma Iota's Parents' Weekend included its First Annual Silent Auction benefiting CASA.

With donations from local businesses as well as Theta families, auction items included everything from a limited edition football autographed by the UK football team to a cake plate hand-painted by a Theta mom. The auction gave parents the chance to see the house as well as mingle with one another.

As the auction drew to a close, the highest bidders wrote their checks and left with smiles, as well as their new possessions. And, in

An ice-skating party was one of several sisterhood events planned by the Gamma Mu Chapter at Maryland.

Ferry, WV. Forty-two members paddled in kayaks and rafts down the rapids for more than two hours. The event was a great bonding experience and created many wonderful memories.

Later in the semester, we went ice-skating at a local rink for a night of bonding with the new members. Although many proved not to be expert ice-skaters, the event was still a great success!

Other planned sisterhood events include a formal holiday dinner and a paintball trip to Bowie, Maryland.

ΓΥ/Miami

The Gamma Upsilon Chapter keeps a busy schedule, including many non-alcoholic sisterhood, philanthropic, and inter-chapter events. This fall, we planned and co-hosted a discussion on diversity issues with the brothers of Phi Delta Theta. All who participated felt the event was a great success. "Diversity as it relates to the student population and beyond is such a timely issue at Miami University and nationwide," said Gina Hagedorn. "I am glad our chapter was able to facilitate that type of discussion." Chapters all over Miami's Greek community sponsor similar discussions, keeping the students active and informed.

In the fall we held our second Annual Fall Breakaway for CASA. What a wonderful tradition we have started!

Thanks to the cooperation of a local running shop and the participation of the whole Greek community, a great time was had by all on race day. The course was five kilometers around the beautiful TCU campus, starting and ending at our football stadium.

Each participant paid an entry fee and—thanks to both monetary and product donations from different companies—received a goodie bag, a T-shirt, and free food after the race.

More than 700 runners registered, and we were able to present a check for $7,520 to Child Advocates of Tarrant County.

The "Theta Run" idea is one we will stick with because it is so successful. The number of runners and our donation to CASA both increased by 50 percent from our first to second year!

ΔΚ/Louisiana State

When do tissue paper, glue, and chicken wire equal fun? When they make up a party! The Delta Kappa Chapter and Pi Kappa Phi fraternity at Louisiana State used this year's Homecoming decorations as an excuse to party in a non-alcoholic style. Both groups came to the Theta house for "Pomp the Party," where they enjoyed dinner from a local Italian restaurant before heading outside for the work (fun!). Music provided additional entertainment as the girls and guys

"pumped" (stuffed tissue paper into the chicken wire) the Homecoming display. The party helped to finish up some last-minute details and got Delta Kappa excited about the Homecoming activities. On Saturday morning, Delta Kappa and Pi Kappa transformed the Theta front lawn into "The Year of the Tiger," with a giant tiger/dragon and display of the SEC teams. This first-ever party proved that fun without alcohol is possible and even helped the pair win third place in decorations! The party was so successful that Delta Kappa has decided to make "Pomp the Party" an annual event.

ΔΧ/Virginia

In the spring, the Delta Chi Chapter held its fourth annual "Pancake Breakfast" at a neighboring fraternity house. Each year we hold this event to raise money for CASA. Charlottesville is fortunate to have our own CASA chapter, to which all of our benefits go. It has become tradition to have the breakfast on the morning of our Parents' Weekend, which is a prefect time to host a charity event, because parents are willing to participate and help in preparations. We also sent out almost two hundred invitations to alumnae in the area, as well as deans, favorite professors, and all fraternities and sororities at UVA. The week of the event, Thetas posted flyers all around central grounds, advertised in The Cavalier Daily, on the school radio station and Channel 29, and also painted Beta Bridge with the slogan "Thetas do it Better for CASA!" This year the breakfast was the most successful that it has ever been. Due to the enthusiasm and energy of the entire chapter and the support of parents, local citizens, and university students, Delta Chi donated $2,500 to CASA Piedmont Branch. It was a worthwhile project that showed how Thetas can work together in order to produce a successful fund-raiser.

ZO/Wake Forest

On a beautiful Sunday afternoon in April, Wake Forest's quad filled with excited and energetic children as the Zeta Omicron Chapter hosted its fourth annual Easter Egg Hunt with the brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon. We invited the children of Forsyth County CASA programs, the children of local Theta alumnae, the children of Wake Forest faculty and staff, and first-graders from Mineral Springs Elementary School, whom we had been tutoring throughout the year.

The egg hunt was organized by our service chairman, and we asked for donations from local businesses to provide treats for the children. We received gracious donations from K-Mart, Papa John's Pizza, Krispy Kreme, and Harris Teeter. The children hunted plastic eggs filled with candy and prizes that we had hidden across the quad. One of the brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon dressed as the Easter Bunny and was a big hit with our guests. Full of enthusiasm and a wonderful sense of humor, he led the "Bunny Hop," the "Hokey Pokey," and games of "Duck, Duck, Bunny" and "Bunny, May I?" The sisters of Kappa Alpha Theta and the brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon all participated in the games, too! We all enjoyed spending the afternoon working with the brothers to provide a day of fun for members of the community, and we look forward to doing it again next year!

At a Christmas open house, the Gamma Psi Chapter from TCU presented a check to the Child Advocates of Tarrant County. The chapter raised the funds by sponsoring a 5K run.

A CASA Pancake Breakfast held during Parents' Weekend was a big success for the Delta Chi Chapter at Virginia.

Daily Justice

As an appeals court judge, Midge Rendell, BH/Pennsylvania, helps determine the law of the land.

“Getting up every day and going out to do justice.” Does this sound like a super hero’s job description? Maybe. But it’s also the job description of a real-life, low-key heroine who wears a black robe rather than a red cape. And instead of getting ready for work in a phone booth, she prepares for the day in large, book-lined, paper-piled chambers of the United States Court House at 6th and Market Streets in Philadelphia.

The Honorable Judge Marjorie O. Rendell—known to friends as Midge—serves as a federal judge in the Third US Circuit Court of Appeals, just one rung below the United States Supreme Court. There she reviews cases for Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, and the Virgin Islands, affirming or reversing decisions and—because the Supreme Court accepts so few cases—frequently determining the law of the land.

“Going out to do justice” is indeed how Judge Rendell views not only her job, but also that of her husband, Ed Rendell, Philadelphia’s dynamic Democratic mayor of seven years. “We feel very fortunate that we’re both able to be in public service. We’re grateful to be as happy as we are and to be helping people, which is how we see our work. It’s a terrific life.”

Rendell’s enthusiasm for her profession is obvious and genuine. A few years ago, she went on record saying she was so fond of her work as a trial judge for the third circuit district court that she would find it difficult to move on to the court of appeals.

Now Rendell laughs when she admits that she loves her new appointment just as much. “I do, even though it’s very different. Now I deal with ideas and analysis more than people. I miss the interaction with the lawyers and parties involved in the trial cases, but what we are deciding in the court of appeals has great impact on the law and on people, going forward into the future. The cases we decide often deal with very important issues, not slam dunks. The challenge of ideas and principles that we’re called upon to analyze and decide can be as exciting as trials.”

by Susan Stephan Holloway, ITI/Iowa State

PHILLY'S FIRST FAMILY

The judge and the mayor both seem to thrive on challenging, high-profile public lives, balanced by relatively down-to-earth private lives. They enjoy time with their son—a “happy, healthy” freshman at the University of Pennsylvania, where Midge Osterlund became a member of Kappa Alpha Theta's Beta Eta Chapter in 1967—and say they relish spending quiet evenings at home and staying in touch with old friends, including some from their college days.

The couple met when Midge attended Penn and Ed, a few years older, was in law school at Villanova. Later, when Midge was attending Georgetown Law and Ed was working in Arlen Specter's district attorney's office, the two began seeing each other again and were married in 1971. During the '70s, Ed began his career in public office and Midge Rendell carved out a successful niche in bankruptcy law, earning respect for her tenacious but empathetic negotiating abilities. The next 15 years, Rendell recalls, were full of challenges and opportunities, as she added the role of mother to lawyer and politician's wife.

In 1993, Rendell was appointed to the third circuit district court, where she was delighted to apply the many skills she'd honed as a lawyer. “Bankruptcy law is the perfect mix of business, litigation, and negotiation,” Rendell explains. “In district court, you're trying to resolve, to settle, to arbitrate. I always could understand where each party was coming from and how to get everyone around the table to feel good about a decision.”

A CONTEMPLATIVE VIEW

Promoted to the appeals court in 1997, Rendell now relishes days spent “reading, writing, and thinking.”

“Here, we have the luxury of thinking about things,” she notes. “In trial court, you have to make decisions and access different sides of issues quickly. That has its own stresses and rewards. The court of appeals is removed from the fray, which is nice and necessary because you need to have the time and atmosphere to contemplate what you're doing without interruption. I can sit for hours working on a case and not come up for air. But when I do look up from the computer page, it's a nice view.”

“Making friends and understanding loyalty, service, and group ethical behavior always has a place.”

Judge Rendell's chambers overlook the Delaware River. Her office contains a desk for phone and computer work, plus a comfortable sitting area, complete with sofa and bookcases. A large table does double duty: serving as a prime spot to spread out the requisite mass of reading materials as well as a meeting place for the many court committees on which Rendell serves. Nearby is a library and office space for two secretaries and three law clerks, who do extensive research.

Even with a comparatively leisurely pace and plenty of assistance, Rendell says there's no time to spare. “We process an amazing amount of material. It's like the brooms of Fantasia. There's always something coming at you. And there's rarely a dull case. This is called ‘hot court’ because we're on top of the cases. We must be very prepared and know them inside and out.”

Although the appeals court hears arguments in 15 to 20 cases out of 40, the judges must intensely review all the cases. In addition to writing her own opinions, Rendell reviews all other opinions coming out of the court and prepares for the upcoming argument sitting. In a sitting, which takes place every six or seven weeks, a panel of three judges usually sits for four days, hearing four or five arguments each day. (Occasionally, the whole court sits “en bloc” to hear a case.) The process in which lawyers come before the court to argue their cases for anywhere from 10 to 30 minutes is similar to Supreme Court proceedings, on a modified scale.

The cases before the circuit court of appeals are described by Rendell as “very esoteric.” They include many civil rights cases, involving areas such as the American Disabilities Act, sexual harassment, and workplace discrimination. In the criminal arena, Rendell says the court is seeing a number of habeas corpus cases.

“This is a very hot area of the law,” she explains. “New standards have been set by Congress for the way in which federal courts review habeas petitions. There's a lot going on about what standards and sentencing guidelines mean.”

PREPARATION FOR EXCELLENCE

Rendell believes she is able to be an effective judge because she is “thoughtful and fair.” She's also quick to credit her husband for his longtime support (“He never cared if the house was a mess or if we brought home food five nights each week”); the law firm where she practiced 21 years for its good training and mentoring; and her law school education and the University of Pennsylvania for providing her with excellent preparation.

At Penn, where she graduated Phi Beta Kappa in 1969, Rendell was known as an upbeat achiever. She was president of Beta Eta Chapter at a time when sorority membership was viewed by many as suspect.

“It was the time of the anti-war movement and the Martin Luther King and Robert Kennedy assassinations. It was frenetic in terms of beliefs and the need to act out. Everyone was meeting around issues that had a certain amount of immediacy,” recalls Rendell. “It was an era of relevance, and sororities weren't viewed as relevant."

But to Rendell, now and then, her membership in Kappa Alpha Theta was important. "It was my home away from home, like a family, and it was an opportunity to make terrific life-long friends. I can't speak for 18 and 19-year-olds today, but from my standpoint, making friends and understanding loyalty, service and group ethical behavior always has a place."

Maintaining ties with the university and Theta friends has remained a priority for Rendell. Several Thetas from her college years now serve with her on the Council of Penn Women. This organization of Penn alumnae—women of achievement—works to support development and advance objectives for women students, faculty, and women's issues at Penn. Rendell and another close Theta friend also are trustees of the University.

In addition, Rendell makes time for her duties as Philly's first lady, particularly in support of projects such as the Avenue of the Arts. She notes, however, that she doesn't commit as much time to that role as she once did. "The need for me to be involved is not as great as it once was, and my ability to be involved is not as great. As a federal judge, there are restrictions on what kinds of activities I can be involved in."

A VALUABLE AGENDA

Although they come from different backgrounds, Rendell says she and her husband share values they learned from their families: belief in hard work, helping others, and living by the Golden Rule. "It's an agenda-less formula. You do the right thing and try to be honest in what you do," she says. "I go by what I call the mirror test. Some people call it The New York Times test. I have to be able to look in the mirror every day and know that I was honest and forthright."

With standards high and schedules full, there's not much time left for diversion, but Rendell is known to have a fondness for the Beach Boys, playing show tunes on the piano, a good round of golf and the family's golden retriever. She says she and her husband do their best to maintain a low-key attitude at home. "When we walk in the door of our home, it's our refuge, a little oasis where we don't pressure each other. We encourage each other and our son. He seems to have adopted that same kind of mentality to set his own level of achievement."

Right now, reveling in the results of her own accomplishments, Judge Rendell still politely brushes off any suggestion that she might be considered as a candidate for the Supreme Court. "I don't think in terms of the future. With a husband involved in politics, I've learned you just never know."

"Things change," she quips. "I love what I'm doing. If it happens to take me somewhere else, I'm sure it would be a kick. But right now I have absolutely no ambition to do anything other than get up tomorrow and do more of what I did today." ■ and the twin engine DC-3.

Making the cross-country trip was doable in a day, as these planes were able to go 450 mph. How far is one of these planes capable of flying?

"Until they ran out of gas. You always had to watch the weather. You weren't supposed to fly more than an hour on instruments in these fighters. So, I don't know how long they would go. I always got caught up in weather and had to land."

After the war, Fisher briefly worked with United Airlines in operations; first as a clerk and then as a trip follower. Later she became a teacher and has not flown since those days. Although she has not flown since the war, Fisher says, "I just love it. There are no cares, no worries. You're just up there."

Thanks a million!

Thanks to the generous gifts of many Thetas, in 1998 the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation distributed nearly $1 million dollars in grants!

Grants included:

- ◆ $355,854 distributed in scholarships to 147 bright Theta stars
- ◆ $157,975 granted to the Fraternity for educational programs
- ◆ $113,876 granted to collegians and alumni for leadership programs
- ◆ $200,588 granted to local CASA programs from chapter fund-raisers
- ◆ $60,000 granted to National CASA
- ◆ $10,690 granted to Thetas in need through the Friendship Fund

- ◆ $8,529 granted to Heartsprings (formerly the Institute of Logopedics)
- ◆ $4,754 granted to various charitable causes including DePauw Memorial Library

A total of $912,266 was granted!

Take us for granted!

We're delighted that last year more than 140 collegians and 78 alumni took us for granted! Actually they did not take Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation or its donors for granted at all. They gratefully acknowledge the impact of grant dollars on their lives.

Seventy-two college women received a scholarship award, ranging from $500 to $10,000. Sixty-nine college women attended LeaderShape Institute on a Foundation grant. LeaderShape is an intensive one-week personal development program. One woman wrote in thanks that the experience was no less than "life changing." The deadline for applying for LeaderShape is March 1 each year.

Seventy-three women received a graduate scholarship to work toward an advanced degree. Another 5 women received a grant to pursue leadership training, or an educational program related to professional or personal development. Alumnae grants included:

- ◆ Adelle Erickson, I/N/North Dakota State, the opportunity to attend an artists workshop on Western Wildlife
- ◆ Sheri Ellertson, I/N/North Dakota State, to attend an Interfraternity Workshop to help her learn more about working with Greek students
- ◆ Linda Herrick, A/DePauw, to attend a seminar on Gender Issues in Schools and Society
- ◆ Lyn Simensen, I/T/Rollins, to attend a professional development seminar at Union Seminary

- ◆ Eydie Liebman, X/Syracuse, to attend classes at the University of Massachusetts for certification in Addictions Counseling.

The Foundation manages 115 educational trust funds or scholarships. All awards are merit based, but the criteria range from preference for a specific chapter to a particular field of study (science, journalism, etc.). The deadline for applying for either an undergraduate or graduate scholarship is February 1 each year.

The Foundation also manages several leadership or educational named trusts. Included is a list of current trusts making annual grants:

- Carryl Wischmeyer Krohne Trust
- Ruth Burr Puryear Trust
- Ellen Bowers Hofstead Trust
- Indianapolis Alumnae Chapter Trust

New trusts which will be making grants in the future include:

- Fred and Eleanor Hunt Trust
- Leadership Development Opportunity Trust
- Houston Alumnae Trust

Contact the Foundation office for trust criteria. The deadline for applying for a leadership or educational trust is November 1 and May 1 of each year. ■
